

KISHA MCCRAY, MSHS, MSW- Transformational Leadership and Organizational Management

As a self-driven and highly competent leader, Kisha McCray, MSHS, MSW brings over 15 years of administrative experience within human service programming and training and development. Her transformative leadership style centers on achieving interpersonal and interdisciplinary goals by establishing an equitable organizational culture and setting attainable standards. Her dedication is evident in her career of providing support through coaching, training, and mentorship.

“Known for Community Impact”, she played a pivotal role in shaping and implementing strategic visions to meet the needs of under-resourced individuals facing food insecurity, financial hardships, and chronic public health issues. Through her unprecedented leadership wrap around support extended to the development and expansion of health care partnerships, nutrition programs, workforce development, education retention and wraparound services.

Mrs. McKray’s power of collaboration has successfully led efforts to build effective partnerships with healthcare systems, hospitals, clinics, and state and local human services departments. With a relentless focusing on addressing social determinants of health she is determined to support individuals’ access. human services-healthy, nutritious food, training, job placement programs, government benefits, and community resources.

With a commitment to data-driven decision-making, she consistently meets evidence-based practice. metrics and analytics to develop and execute innovative strategies, ensuring that programs align with the belief that those experiencing food insecurity are best suited to help develop solutions leading individuals towards self-sufficiency.

It is through this leadership practice and expertise that encompasses strategic planning, innovation, data monitoring and analysis, community partnership development, fiscal management, civic engagement, policy development, and advocacy. For an unconventional time, she is more than experienced in training using adult learning principles and has a track record of developing impactful content.

An exceptional leader, Kisha McCray, MSHS, MSW continues to provide effective leadership through one-on-ones, team meetings, mentoring, and performance management. Without a doubt she is passionate about diversity, equity, and inclusion, actively ensuring these principles are integrated into all aspects of operations.

